COPYRIGHT CLAIMS BOARD

Docket number: 26-CCB-0728
November 25, 2026

Takiya Robinson	v.	La Drea Johnson
CLAIMANT		RESPONDENT

ORDER TO AMEND NONCOMPLIANT CLAIM

The Copyright Claims Board (Board) finds that your claim does not comply with the requirements of the CASE Act and related regulations. The claim cannot move forward unless it is amended.

If you wish to proceed with this claim, you must file an amended claim by December 28, 2026. If you do not, the Board must dismiss your claim without prejudice, although you may file again in the future before the Board or in federal court. If you file an amended claim and it is found compliant, you will be notified and directed to proceed with service. There is no additional filing fee for an amended claim. 17 U.S.C. § 1506(f)(1)(B).

To make your amended claim compliant, you must resolve the issues identified below. 37 C.F.R. § 224.1(c)(2). If you submit an amended claim, you may include the amendments sought in your November 23, 2026 Request for Leave to Amend Claim. You may also choose to correct or edit any errors or other information in your claim before you file it again. You do not need to provide a legal argument in your claim – just a statement of facts and circumstances. Being specific in your description gives the other party and the Board more information about your claim. There is no character limit, so please be as detailed as possible.

Allegedly Infringing Activity

Your claim does not present enough facts to clearly state how the respondent used your exclusive rights in the allegedly infringed work without permission.

Copyright law grants exclusive rights to copyright owners. These include the right to reproduce, distribute, and publicly perform the work, and to make a "derivative work," which is a work based on the original work. Someone who does one of those activities without the copyright owner's permission may be infringing the copyright, unless they have a legitimate defense. More information about exclusive rights is available on page 3 of the Starting an Infringement Claim chapter of the CCB Handbook.

You identify a digital portrait titled "Delluserin" as the allegedly infringed work. You allege that the portrait appeared in a panel tile labeled "Mind Chaos Brew" during a livestream that you identify as Teraney's broadcast. You state that the respondent acknowledged in her counter-notification that she reproduced approximately one minute and seven seconds of that livestream in her own YouTube video. You state that the respondent's video has since been removed. However, your claim does not clearly explain the circumstances of your participation in the original livestream, how your artwork came to appear in that footage, or precisely how the respondent allegedly used the artwork.

If you file an amended claim, please explain your role in the original livestream, including whether you participated in the discussion and how the "Delluserin" artwork came to appear in the panel tile. Please also explain whether you authorized the use of your image and artwork in the original livestream and, if so, what restrictions you gave on that use. Clarify whether the respondent allegedly reproduced the artwork solely as part of the livestream footage or used it separately, and explain specifically how the respondent's actions allegedly infringed your copyright. In particular, please describe whether the artwork was incidental to the footage reproduced by the respondent or whether the respondent attempted to show your artwork specifically. You should submit copies of your "Delluserin" artwork, the original livestream footage, and the allegedly infringing video or other materials showing how the respondent allegedly used your work, if available. Copies should be submitted rather than hyperlinks because material available through hyperlinks may change or become unavailable. Thus, when making a final determination, the Board cannot rely on material that is referred to only through a hyperlink and is not uploaded to the claim. Any supplemental documents should be clearly labeled and identified in a manner that explains their relevance to your claim so that the Board can readily determine what each document is intended to show.

More information about the elements required to assert a claim of copyright infringement is available in the Starting an Infringement Claim chapter of the CCB Handbook.

To submit an amended claim, log into your eCCB account and take the following steps:

1. From your dashboard, click the "Amend claim" button and select your docket number from the dropdown list.
2. Your claim will unlock for editing. The information you originally entered will appear in the same order as in your original claim.
3. Make the necessary edits. If you have filed supplemental documents, you must re-upload any documents you wish to include in the amended claim on the "Documentation" page. Please include only documents directly related to your claim, and label them clearly.
4. Once you have completed your edits, continue to click through the fillable claim form until you reach the "Review" page. The Review page includes all the information that you have provided in the claim up to this point. Carefully double-check the information on this page. If you have any corrections, you can select "Edit" to revise any entries necessary. Each section of information has an "Edit" button, which will take you back to that section so you can make changes. After you make changes, you can click "Save & review" to return to the Review page. Please review your claim carefully. Once you submit your amended claim, you will be unable to edit the claim while it is in compliance review.
5. Once you have completed your review and any revisions, you must confirm that the information in your claim is accurate and truthful to the best of your knowledge. To complete the declaration, type your full name into the "Digital signature" box near the bottom of the "Review filing" page and click "Agree & submit."
