This is funny cause if every other CC watches this and realise they can also copyright strike saint for reacting to their videos it would be perfect.

You know, if I was an asshole, I would send clowntontas a copyright strike as well and give him his second one for reacting to my video and talking shit the entire video, which would risk him being permanently banned on YouTube with a 3rd strike, but I'm not that much of an asshole, although there are MANY creators that could literally do the same to him and literally get him permanently banned, considering the amount of bad faith reactions he's done on his channel where he just shits on a CC while watching their entire video.
